SEEKING PROTECTIVE SERVICES

You may choose either or both options

Division of Student Life (DSL): The Title IX Office can assist with a variety of measures including a no contact order, academic support, and housing accommodations, whether or not there is a formal complaint filed. Email TitleIX@mit.edu for more information.

Protective Order: A court-issued order that can be enforced anywhere in the United States, no matter where you obtain it. A violation of it can result in criminal charges. MIT Police can provide information and support throughout this process. Once issued, MIT will also work with you to make any accommodations necessary.

REPORTING OPTIONS

You may pursue either, both or none of these options. You are not required to file a report immediately; however it is important to preserve any evidence of the incident. Visit sexualmisconduct.mit.edu for detailed information about your reporting options.

Institute Complaint

If the alleged perpetrator is affiliated with MIT, you may file a complaint with the Institute by contacting the Title IX Office. The complaint is governed by the Institute's Sexual Misconduct Policy. You may seek either "formal" or "informal" resolution; the standard of proof is "a preponderance of the evidence;" and sanctions may include suspension or expulsion (for students) and termination (for employees). Contact titleIX@mit.edu with questions.

Criminal Complaint

You are not required to file a criminal complaint. If you choose to, MIT will provide you with support throughout the process. You may file a criminal complaint by contacting the police. A criminal complaint is governed by applicable criminal statutes; the standard of proof is "beyond a reasonable doubt;" and potential sanctions include all applicable criminal sanctions, up to and including incarceration.
